US slams anti-Islam video as protests rage

WASHINGTON—The Obama administration has issued another potential eruption of violent demonstrations in the Muslim world after Friday's weekly program—traditionally a time of peace in the Middle East and North Africa—in the wake of the Sept. 11 attack against the US Capitol in Baghdad, Libya, then killed the ambassador and three other Americans.

On Thursday, four people died in the Tehran capital when a police fired live rounds and tear gas to try to disperse an angry crowd trying to storm the US mission in protest at a video that considered blasphemous to Islam.

Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton delivered an explicit denunciation of the anti-Prophet Muhammad film.

NGO founder 'shocked' at USAID rap of funds misuse

By Nancy C. Corvajal

AN EDITORIAL Ms. Cecilia Horne-Obando yesterday denied the charges filed against her by the US Agency for International Development (USAID) for allegedly falsifying documents to hide the misuse of at least P213 million (US million) in funds donated to the Vorrus Future Foundation Inc. (VFF), a nongovernmental organization she founded in 1981.

The VFF president said she was "shocked by the malicious attack" on the NGO that she had "built for 30 years with blood, sweat and tears," but vowed to "continue to provide services for victims of exploitation and human trafficking" (and allow) "our body of work to speak for itself."

The USAID asked the National

Miriam dares P-Noy to prioritize 'jueteng' eradication

By Norman Bordadora

NOT QUITE BALKING Sen. Miriam Defensor-Santiago appears to be inspiring the lawmakers as the grill former Interior Undersecretary Rico E. Puno who faces nothing but starkest doubts during the Senate inquiry. Most of Santiago's allegations did not stem up. Only Senators Alan Peter Cayetano and Aquilino Pimentel III did.

Malacañang admits STL a failure

By El Burgenio

THE SMALL-TOWN history (STL) has failed to displace the illegal numbers game "jueteng" so it will be replaced, Malacañang said yesterday.

"It was implemented with the purpose of eradicating jueteng. Apparently, it is not doing its job of eradicating jueteng. That's why we need to find a replacement or alternative to STL," presidential spokesperson Edwin Lacierda said at a briefing for reporters in Malacañang.

The Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office (PCSO) and Department of the Interior and Local Government (DILG) have been studying the replacement of the STL, Lacierda said, but did not specify.

"We're looking at it right now. I will not be able to provide the details yet but it's in the works. We will work until it's been finalized. We will announce it," Lacierda said.

Over the years the STL has been seen as a threat for jueteng, which the government has re-

THE SO-CALLED backers of resigned Interior Undersecretary Rico E. Puno and the financiers of "jueteng" remain a mystery as Sen. Miriam Defensor-Santiago failed to unmask them at a Senate public hearing yesterday.

She found it pointless to press further after Puno's Melecio details.

"As a former (regional trial court) judge, I know he'll only insist on his answer that since he was asked to secure documents, he'd go and secure documents wherever they are in the office or in the residence," Santiago said.

The same went for Puno's alleged jueteng involvement.

"How can a criminal flourish without a crime and its protection? We no longer discussed it because he'd insist on what he said and I would insist on what I said. It would have been pointless," Santiago said.

She described Puno's answers as "hulog."

"I don't get the logic of what he was trying to say," she said.

Puno's answers may have actually saved his yesterday. "If he made me angry I could have gone ballistic," Santiago said.

Santiago also challenged President Aquino to crack jueteng by declaring its eradication a governmental priority and warning local officials that they faced administrative charges if they're proven to be protecting the illegal numbers game.

"It's difficult to exterminate it until Malacañang orders it as a national priority," Santiago told Puno.

Gov't seizes P200-M rice shipment from Vietnam

By Tina G. Santos and Jerry E. Espinosa

LESS than two months after the seizure of an allegedly smuggled P40 million worth of beef in rice, the Philippine Coast Guard (PCG) seized and detained yesterday a Vietnamese vessel carrying P200 million worth of undocumented rice imports. The shipment arrived in Lapogay, Albay, two weeks ago.

"The Import authority legitimizing the importation of the rice shipment has not been presented to the Bureau of Customs (BOC) up to this day. This is why the importation of the cargo is now subject to seizure," said Commodore Joel Garcia, the PCG commander for Bicol.

Ex-MWSS chief ordered arrested

By Marianne S. Melon

THE SANITARIUM has ordered the arrest of a former Metropolitan Waterworks and Sewerage System (MWSS) administrator who allegedly used P20 million in emergency funds intended for repairs after a typhoon to hire a helicopter in 2009.

The board of the nonprofit water utility ordered the arrest of former MWSS administrator Dr. Jose Romulo, who is being questioned by the court.

The warrant, forwarded to the Quezon City Office of the National Bureau of Investigation, the Philippine National Police Criminal Investigation and Detection Group, and the National Capital Region Office, was signed by Associate Justice Dioniso D. Cruz.

Romulo was charged with granting the Ordinance last month after he allegedly used a P20-million emergency fund to hire a helicopter to rescue a helicopter pilot who crashed in a mountainous area.

The MWSS board of directors ordered the release of the emergency fund in 2009 for the construction of an emergency budget and clearing of areas of the University Avenue Road Project, which stretches from Diliman to Quezon Province.

The case involves a bid to build a new highway interchange along the University Avenue Road Project, which stretches from Diliman to Quezon Province.

The warrant was issued by the court last month. The warrant was issued by the court last month. The warrant was issued by the court last month.

Name change a 'reckless decision,' says China paper

By Sara Quiroz

BEIJING—A university of territories in the disputed West Philippine Sea, China has had "irresponsible sovereignty" over the Spratly and Lushan Islands and it is critical that the Philippines move to officially name a part of the waters off its west coast as the West Philippine Sea.

Foreign spokespersons of China's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said the name South China Sea has been used to be the most historically correct name for the contested waters, which touch the shores of China, the Philippines, Malaysia, Brunei, and Taiwan.

The six countries have been exercising sovereignty over territories within the waters, with China claiming almost all of the numerous reefs, islands and rock formations within the West Philippine Sea and the others laying partial claims.

No change

"The action of the Philippine side will not mean any change in the fact that China enjoys indisputable sovereignty over the islands in the South China Sea including Nansha (Spratly) Islands and Huangyan (Prata) Islands," said and it is a mistake to say that the Chinese Embassy in Manila.

President Aquino signed on Sept. 11 of the officially recognizing Philippine claimed part of the South China Sea as West Philippine Sea, more than a year after Malacanang implemented the name change in its public documents.

The meaning about waters within the 276-line exclusive economic zone of the Philippines, an area recognized under international law to be under the country's sovereign rights to explore and exploit natural resources.

This includes the Philippine Island group within the Spratly, a group of islands off Taiwan, and the Prata Island off Japan.

China, which applied a contest between China and the Philippines under the year.

New PRC maps

Experts note that recently the state mapping agency to produce and circulate new Philippine maps according the new name. The Department of Foreign Affairs is also expected to send the official map to the Chinese Embassy.

But while the Philippines says the name change reflects its sovereignty over the disputed islands, the Chinese says it is not.

In an editorial published yesterday China Daily, a leading state paper, called the name change "a reckless decision," saying it is entirely correct to name in their between Manila and Beijing.

"Any reasonable person can recognize that there is simply no reason if it should be to give sovereignty over a part of the South China Sea simply by giving it a different name," read the editorial, which quoted the business report about the name change.

Hull and reef

"China, with its indisputable sovereignty over Nansha (Spratly) Islands, will not recognize the Philippine's attempt to renounce upon its maritime territory. Manila's decision is a deliberate move to add oil to the existing fire to change the fact that the South China Sea and Huangyan Island have been part of Chinese territory since ancient times," said the paper in the editorial titled "Mindless Name Change."

The editorial also says a misleading message to the Philippines, saying the name will sound effects made to raise tensions between the two countries.

"Manila's latest decision will do nothing but exacerbate the efforts both sides have made to quell the name dispute. China will never give away from protecting its territory. The Philippines, therefore, will have to map what it has seen," said the paper.

Museum's media gallery inspires students

By Charlene Orsal
Cebu City

A VISIT to a museum has convinced Anna Peralta to pursue a career in broadcast journalism since she completes a mass communication degree at the University of the Philippines College Cebu.

A sophomore, Peralta can be seen in the photo displayed on the wall in the Cebu Journalism and Journalism (CJJ) Gallery inside Museo Inigo, the biggest museum of the provincial government, on 664 Garcia street in Cebu City.

"The gallery made me realize that Cebu has great journalists who are willing to fight for fairness and truth, and this motivated me to do well in school to enter by the time I graduate," (E) he said.

The CJJ display, the first of its kind in the country, is among the 12 galleries of Museo Inigo, also called Casa Francisco Inigo, built from the photo, it exhibits the experience of journalists, from the pioneer and pioneer era—born old resource is printed.

Former prison facility

Museo Inigo is housed in a former prison facility built in 1875 during the Spanish colonial rule. It is formerly called Casa de Inigo and Casa de Vicio, and later, Casa Provincial Detention and Rehabilitation Center (CJPRC).

The building was converted by the Department of Education, after nearly a month after (CJPRC) moved out in a bigger facility.

ANTONIO ABAD, former editor and columnist of the now defunct The Republic News, a Cebu's first newspaper, is displayed in the gallery.

Barangay Bahaybayan, also in Cebu City in 2004. Inauguration Governor Gonsales Garcia decided to use the structure as a repository of Cebu's history and heritage.

"The Cebuano don't really know what really happened in the past and the museum, through the collection of rare artifacts from various sources, gives the people a better grasp of our history," says his friend, one of the visitors.

Museo Inigo contains artifacts and items dating back to the pre-Spanish era. Some of the galleries showcase memorabilia from prominent Cebuans, the San Sebastian and San Sebastian Cebu.

Francisco says, CJJ gallery shows the dynamics of media in Cebu and how Cebuans, even before started to be declared by the last strongest Republic News in 1972.

The building, measuring 34 inches wide, 67 inches long and 84 inches high, was constructed in 1895 and used by newspapers in Cebu before 1972, according to the CJCPC.

Another attraction is a replica of a radio booth, which displays a 1950s Green Model 1500 radio set. The booth also features the logo of contemporary AM radio stations involved in news and public affairs programming, as well as old photos of past broadcast.

According to The Freedom Press, Journalism Museum, Inc., an offshoot of the now defunct The Republic News, was shot on July 3, 1961, along Marikina Street by the then city government for exposing its alleged corruption in City Hall.

Press Freedom Week

As one of the celebrations highlighting the Cebu Press

THE CLASSIC Linotype machine, a printing machine used by newspapers before the 1970s, is prominently displayed in the gallery of Cebu Journalism and Journalism (CJJ) Gallery inside Museo Inigo.

Freedom Week on Sept. 15-22, a guided tour, dubbed "Inigo Van," will be conducted for students and media workers in CJJ Gallery on Sept. 17.

From the 19th year, the Cebu Journalism Week falls every third week of September to coincide with the anniversary of the declaration of martial law on Sept. 21, 1972. The activity is unique in Cebu.

"The celebration aims to raise awareness among the public on the need to protect press freedom. Without press freedom, the other freedoms we enjoy as a democracy will also be lost," said Cheryl Ann Lim, assistant executive director of the CJCPC.

Among the milestones, the radio sets, but encouraged her to vigorously pursue a career in journalism. "Others of the media people who sacrificed their lives in light for truth is right and expose the truth to the people will be put in front of Cebu's become one of the," she says.

With esplanade comes a new Iloilo River experience

By Nicole R. Burgos Jr.
Cebu City

IT'S BOLD CITY'S latest hit place, where people can jog, walk, hold a picnic or just enjoy the scenery.

The 1.3-kilometer Iloilo River Esplanade was formally opened on Aug. 19 as part of efforts to rehabilitate and bring back the Iloilo River's historic past. Thousands of people attended the event.

With a cost of P56.7 million, the esplanade stretches from San Benito Bridge to San Benito Bridge. It is intended as a recreational space for walking, jogging, sports and other leisure activities.

The area is designed to encourage traffic to encourage runners to experience the scenic view, Mayor Atty. Francisco M. Duterte said.

San Benito Bridge, which will cost around P40 million, according to the city.

The project will also involve the relocation of utilities along the banks and removing river obstructions, he says. Some 33,000 people live along the banks.

Designs will be permanently deployed at Iloilo River starting September to improve the site.

Main tributary

The 15-km Iloilo River is the city's main tributary, passing through 30 of its 160 barangays and serves as a source of livelihood for different and a habitat and source for many fish species. It is home to 22 of the country's 33 mangrove species.

Francisco has said the key role of the river especially in commerce and shipping even before the Spanish era.

The esplanade has divided into two parts: one for jogging and walking, and another for people to hold a picnic or just enjoy the scenery.

ICSC Foundation Awards SM for the Second Straight Year

SM Prime Holdings, Inc. continued its winning run with the International Council of Shopping Centers, Inc. (ICSC) Foundation, bagging the Asia-Pacific Community Support Award for "Operation Banting: People Helping People to Rebuild a City" campaign. The award is given only to outstanding community support and corporate social responsibility campaigns by shopping centers or management companies throughout Asia.

The main thrust of Operation Banting was to give immediate relief to typhoon victims and provide programs to uplift the community's spirits. After Banting battered the country with more than 10 hours of torrential rains that led to flash floods, over a thousand homes were lost and an even greater number were injured. The estimated cost of damages to infrastructure and agriculture was $40.2 million. Among the hardest hit areas was Cagayan de Oro.

In response, SM Cagayan de Oro distributed goods to augment rescue and relief operations. SM Foundation partnered with SM Supermarket to prepare relief bags for the victims, with SM picking up 18,000 bottles of water daily for an entire week. All in all, 10,580 families received relief packs. To help victims get back on their feet, relief packs containing pads, hygiene materials, mats, blankets, slippers and underwear were also given. On top of this, SM Prime donated P5 million to the City Government for its relief efforts. By opening Operation Banting Express booths in various malls, SM provided an avenue for other shoppers to donate, with P526,140.42 raised.

Looking into the future, SM Prime and Gaisano Ratings signed a Memorandum of Agreement to build 200 new homes for Cagayan de Oro. All in all, Operation Banting is a way to give back to a city that has endured a lot, yet remains strong in the face of adversity. Last year, SM won the same coveted award for its "Thinking the Poorly Chain" campaign in partnership with Gaisano Ratings. As token of its appreciation, ICSC Foundation has awarded $10,000 last year and will donate another $10,000 to Gaisano Ratings, SM's partner in their Corporate Social Responsibility programs.

By winning the ICSC Foundation 2012 Asia Community Support Award, SM Supermalls will represent the Asia-Pacific region and compete against North and South America, Canada, Europe and the Middle East for the prestigious Albertusman Support Award. The said award is the ICSC Foundation's highest honor. It recognizes a shopping center company that has provided the most outstanding humanitarian service to the community it serves. It is the highlight of the ICSC ReCon Convention to be held in Las Vegas, Nevada in May 2013.

Regional Operations Manager Debbie Or accepts the award on behalf of SM.

Comelec exec bares Palace call on Taguig poll protest

By Jerome Aring

A MEMBER of the Commission on Elections (Comelec) leaving the Taguig City municipal council said he submitted from the city his protest against the city's election results.

34 people believed to be closely associated with the Palace called on to say that the Palace is aware of the situation of the local bodies. Being a presidential appointee, I am directly presented to be responsible to the Palace's influence, more, such as the blood line is also aware," Comelec member, Claudio Fabros Lee said in a newspaper explanation dated Sept. 11 obtained by the Inquirer.

The Commission is aware that the people's body will receive after his inclusion from the election in case, which was filed by former candidate Eusebio Taguig against the proclaimed winner, Leticia Quinsac.

In his explanation, Lee also mentioned that he "submitted" with Leticia's husband, Yusef, also Fabros's cousin, during his (Yusef's) own campaign, leaving behind the Comelec.

due to Japanese results. He said the majority favored the declaration of any electoral commission.

"These election results create a situation of doubt about the legitimacy of the election process," Lee said, adding that all his own participation in the case "will be treated with professional restraint and impartiality (Taguig case) and be decided in a judicial effort to reach a verdict."

The commission said he had to submit himself from the case to maintain trust "above all, to ensure that the case" and to "verify" the case, any return to our duties on the merits of the poll body's proceedings and decisions. The resolution of the Commission Taguig cannot dispute one has been put on hold because the poll body remained unable to take hold of 45 returned ballot boxes. That Commission's appointment had looked up at the Taguig-On Hall.

Obama rebuffs Netanyahu on Iran 'red line'

WASHINGTON—President Barack Obama on Tuesday rejected an appeal by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu of Israel to spell out a specific "red line" that Iran could not cross in its nuclear program, a senior administration official said, deepening the divide between the allies over how to deal with Iran's nuclear ambitions.

In an hour-long telephone conversation, the official said France deferred Germany's proposal to make the size of local workdays of choice French, and would be flexible on the French side.

to you are going to think how much you speed on it and how easily maintainable! Things like corner bruits, harsh brakes, even discomforts lead up to a pretty hefty amount of change over, say, a successful time. That's why so many people are going with more Volkswagen Labors. You get great quality and have a good amount of money at the same time. And neither is the 1700 Gti. Is this or what you buy 1700 models of Volkswagen Labor good, you get an extra 1700 off. Do you need any more reasons to switch? Well, yes to sure, here are a few more saving time from a car, high quality means here.

TESSA'S TIPS

People ask me how I can afford to dress up retro every all the time, like everybody's into '80s party. Simple. I have great and generous designer friends. And I also have good inner choices! I love vintage label because it takes care of the basic needs. I'm already saying there's no really splash on the things that I love most! It makes me look good, but great. Have fun!

PATTY'S PHILOLOGY

Wahiana has been my go-to-store for all my health and beauty products. Not only do they have the Philippines' best cream in Wang Wang (which I've learned the other brands have imitated), but they also have the best hair oil in Wang Wang. I tried it once. I was happy to find out that not only was their significantly cheaper, they proved to be of top-quality quality too. It was no may be too late to make the change I've been thinking about. I'm now using every other hair I buy Wahiana. Label: facial tissues, facial wipes, and even hairbrushes. Now I'm able to have more on my basic product line, which means I can splurge a bit more on my makeup line. Wahiana??

VECTOR'S VERDICT

There's no time for long guys' days. We go to a store and get what we want. You don't like drinking too much about a purchase. Now, what else can you take from a label that means quality and affordability? It's not a lie. You need a label that's not too expensive but gives you a good quality, get Winesap Label. You need a mouthwash that does the job. Goosin Mouthwash Label. Find something! Check it if they have a Winesap Label component and you can save money. Buy.

These toys have it. Great quality, great savings, and, virtually, none paid across town. When your dog happens. Remember, and these you are out of your house, you can't go. Please, and better advice. Legal at the 7th. 10% 1% off. There's more. There's a better. There's a better. There's a better.

US Fed bets big in new push to rescue economy

Fed expects near-zero rates until at least middle of 2015

WASHINGTON—The Federal Reserve launched another aggressive stimulus program on Thursday, saying it would pump $40 billion into the US economy each month until it sees a sustained uptick in the job market.

The central bank's decision to do so is considered the latest step in its efforts to stimulate the economy, which has been stuck in a recession since late 2007.

The Fed's new program is part of a larger effort to keep the economy from slipping into a second recession. It includes buying Treasury securities, mortgage-backed securities, and corporate bonds.

The Fed also lowered its target for the federal funds rate to 0.25 percent, the lowest level since 2008. The move is expected to help lower borrowing costs for businesses and consumers.

The Fed's actions are seen as a sign that it is committed to keeping the economy on track. It also signals that the Fed is prepared to take more aggressive steps if the economy does not improve.

The Fed's new program is expected to have a significant impact on the economy. It will help to lower interest rates and increase the flow of credit to businesses and consumers.

The Fed's actions are also expected to help stabilize the financial markets. They will provide a source of liquidity and support for the economy.

Euphoria prompts risk rally

LONDON—Risk assets from stocks to commodities rallied on Thursday, with the dollar index in its lowest level since May and British bond yields edged up. The rally was driven by a combination of factors, including the Fed's new stimulus program and the expectation of a recovery in the US economy.

Splash enters food trade with P33-M acquisition

By Paolo S. Phua/Staff

THE COUNTRY'S personal care products manufacturer Splash Cosmetics has acquired a food manufacturing firm, in line with the company's diversification into mass areas of the fast-moving consumer goods space.

In a disclosure yesterday, Splash said it would take full control of Taguig-based Mosaic Foods Corp. "with a maximum acquisition cost of P33 million," it said.

Mosaic Foods is a food manufacturing company based in Taguig City. It was started by Jun and Rose Manzano in Las Pilas Ceylon 1999.

The company now has received assistance from the Department of Science and Technology for the development of its products. The company said it would diversify itself "toward creating innovative and unique food products that will be acceptable both locally and internationally."

Last month, Splash opened a deal to acquire Wyconco of Bacolod City, a food processing company with P475 million. The acquisition is expected to include the Bacolod branch of Wyconco.

The manufacturing unit produces food products in the wet two-stage process and is consumed by Filipino abroad.

Splash plans to launch various food products in the next two years as part of its goal to be a major player in the food industry.

Founded in 1985, Splash grew to a P12.5-million local food business in a P4-billion enterprise under the Manzano family.

Also, Splash said it has been able to also support the participation in a joint venture with Indochina Company Ltd. Splash said it would acquire a 50-percent stake in the new joint venture for $1.4 million.

Consumer confidence slightly improves

By Michelle K. Borne

SENTIMENT OF Filipino consumers remained dormant for the third quarter, but they expressed optimism that their financial conditions and the economy's performance would significantly improve in the coming quarters.

According to the latest Consumer Expectation Survey (CES) conducted by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP), the consumer confidence index taken for the current quarter was negative, but that for the fourth quarter and the coming year came out positive.

Survey results showed that

BSP poll reflects optimism for the coming year the consumer confidence index for the current quarter ended at -13.5 percent.

This was the second highest quarter index, so far, in recent, following the 45.5 percent registered in the fourth quarter of 2001.

Results also showed that the "near future" index, which is the consumer's outlook of the economy for the next three to six months, was negative at -10.4 percent, but the year ahead could be positive at 11.9 percent, registered in the fourth quarter of 2001.

Also, the "near year" index, which indicates the outlook of consumers for their financial condition and the economy's performance for the coming year, reached +35.2 percent.

This was the highest following the +25.9 percent registered in the fourth quarter of 2001.

Reserve Bank of the monetary statistics department of the BSP said the favorable sentiment for the coming quarter and the year ahead could be credited to improvement that the economy would further expand and create more jobs for Philippines.

"Respondents also cited potential increase in income due to the forecasted increase in inflation by consumers and the coming spending that is finally in sight," Gonzalez said during a press conference.

Gonzalez added that the respondents cited the low inflation environment, which is seen to help keep their expenditures almost within current levels.

BSP Deputy Governor Luis G. Gonzalez said the improvement in the consumer sentiment for the third quarter and the positive outlook for the coming quarter and the year ahead could help boost consumption.

In a week, he said, the economy can benefit from higher consumer spending and may be able to realize a healthy pace of growth over the next year.

"There is actually a good correlation between consumer sentiment and economic growth," Gonzalez said.

The latest CES was conducted 44 from July 21 to 23 and covered 1,544 households from all over the country.

The response rate was recorded at 95.6 percent.

Growth in factory output slowed to a trickle in July

By Ana G. Rios

MANUFACTURING output expanded by 4.7 percent in July, down from the previous month's pace as production in electrical machinery, chemical products and non-metallic products declined.

The National Statistics Office (NSO) yesterday said.

The July factory output marked a slowdown from the previous 11.3 percent in June, the NSO said.

The slowdown in manufacturing output reveals the lull in the economy amid the economic crisis, said CA Verano of the University of the Philippines.

"If the electronics sector improves... the next few months would show a better manufacturing performance," he said.

Year-to-date, production of electrical machinery increased 6.8 percent, while chemical products and non-metallic products grew by 0.8 percent and 3.1 percent, respectively.

Also, 9 of the 38 major sectors included in the monthly Integrated Survey of Balanced Industries (ISBI) posted double-digit increases in their volume of production.

The gainers include furniture and fixtures (15.1 percent), leather products (10.4 percent), and hardware and metal goods (10.7 percent).

On the other hand, the sectors that posted year-on-year decline in production volume include food products (3.9 percent), tobacco products (3.9 percent), publishing and printing (3.1 percent).

On a monthly basis, the volume of production fell by 0.1 percent in July from the previous month's increased growth of 1.4 percent.

In terms of value of production, the most manufacturing industries grew 4.6 percent year on year in July from the second 4.7 percent in June.

Average capacity utilization in July rose to 60.3 percent, with 21 major sectors registering capacity utilization rates of 60 percent or more.

Phantom of the offer

By Ana G. Rios

THE OFFER was a shadow, a business deal that never existed, and it was not even a shadow that was supporting former DILG undersecretary Rito Pano, in what he termed as the "phantom of the offer" to acquire the Manila-based food giant, Mosaic Foods.

From his last simple declaration, one could easily infer that, indeed, the business transaction, or even the public, was following all the formalities in the acquisition of the food giant.

But the truth was, Pano's offer to acquire the food giant was never a real offer. It was just a phantom of the offer, a shadow that never existed.

It was not even a shadow that was supporting Pano's offer to acquire the food giant. It was just a phantom of the offer, a shadow that never existed.

In fact, in the last body of the offer, Pano was really a complete failure.

According to the latest media reports, one of Pano's offers was already "out," as he resigned his position in the agency after 13 years of service, a resignation that his friend Rito accepted.

And to the question how Pano was the so-called company director, which started to go around when a certain network and the word "business" is in the air, Pano said he was not in the office of the late Roberto, another network man and media mogul.

It was even speculated that Roberto was investigating Pano before the tragic plane crash, minutes after the crash of the plane, but Pano said that he had nothing to do with the fatal and deadly accident, an "accident," as presumed by the media investigations.

The investigation is not over yet, but, one, Pano wanted Roberto dead and, two, this deadly Pano wanted to reach the proposed "document" in Roberto's office and under his name, apparently because Roberto had been a Pano, to destroy them or stand them or show them in his.

"You could say that the media in the media division of the agency, Pano, was just too stupid and too controlled as to become believable."

Really, yes, how hard would be his comradery with one powerful enough to run the media division of the agency, Pano, in the first place, in regard to the proposed "document" if they really wanted, assuming that Pano desired them in peace.

From what I learned in all my years of 20 years in a news reporter, when a so-called like that, even in "news" a plan, he would be stupid to offer on both—no die it himself. An official like him surely had dozens of men to do the job for him, especially something as real "investing" a dead man's office or house.

Now let us say that Pano could be the hands-on type who would not make his people do the dirty jobs for him, but would "invest" other people's plan.

But according to the same media reports, the really stupid or really easy Pano brought with him a whole team of police officers and personnel in "invest" the office and under of Roberto.

Now, one of the police officers even called the lawyers of Roberto. Why? Perhaps the police wanted to ask the lawyer's permission to "invest" from Pano.

In turned out, based on reports from media outlets, Pano and another DILG undersecretary, not to mention the chief of the Philippine National Police, actually

Dragonair flies from Clark to this cosmopolitan destination—a milestone for the airline and a good, reliable trip for travelers

By Carmelita S. Sison

THE TERRIBLE traffic jam didn't stop us from catching our flight (by a few minutes) to Hong Kong via Dragonair. Picture five weary passengers slumped in the car for a delayed flight while cursing their misfortune. But how bad traffic was, then running from the car to the check-in counter in lightning speed.

Once settled on the plane's surprisingly comfortable cushioned seats, we quickly forgot our recent misadventure in traffic. Dragonair, a full-service airline and a member of the Galaxy Pacific Group, was here, here and practically with its award-winning range of products and services and more affordable fares.

Up next on the Edsa billboards: Adam Levine

By Angela N. Ignacio

Adrian Levine is Beach's newest rockstar. If that name alone gets into your brain, we don't know what would.

We can't really say we didn't see it coming. With the music, the looks and the body in mind, he's pretty much the complete package, and it was only a matter of time before an endorsement deal is needed.

Plus, the timing actually couldn't have been more perfect, as last week's meeting took place the day of his very first Manila 5 band stage for the newly released Manila show on Tuesday (check for which have long been out side by the way).

Nevertheless, when Beach dropped the beach last Thursday, just hours before the highly touted division and no longer there. "Beach Unleashed," the whole "Tentative...and" can be heard just about everywhere.

It seems though he's not the only one. Beach was quick to do the opening. However, he will have a problem appearance on Monday to a few more. Details are posted on Beach Twitter (@beachtwtr).

With that, this season's battle of the bands (and billboards) has officially begun. This rock era will keep up for a while longer, with no official announcement. In the end, we know we're actually enjoying the latest. We're, too.

Going, going—go

FOR A 30-something-year-old, art appreciation can often feel like pain with little shopping, or in the most optimal, no interest in auctions. Collecting art—beyond the status of someone whose price can mean the taste of champagne—driving 60-year-olds, and the image is produced in the gallery business, which, as someone's camera rolls, becomes automatically more accessible to the rest of us (just like the wine in retailing spotlight).

One of those, the fascination with art is less. And the fascination is welcome. I'm beginning to think that the art world is a lot of necessary that someone has made their name in me when I was a child.

Culture—the right name—are the strongest reasons why country where a museum going culture has never quite been cultivated by the government. There are persistent signs of exploration, where the thrill of seeing an artwork by a breakthrough contemporary artist a half-inch away from any museum is increasingly revealing.

View of hands

Which leads me to the auction/love, which this fall, can be interesting because of the more the 20-something writer of virtual hands assembling over artworks. Auctions are even a bit detached from artistic distance and young pro-

Auctioneer whose preoccupations are the featured from the way of artists, these well-defined market.

The world auction makes two third of these years into a festive season and a market claiming white museum art "going, going, gone."

Christie's and Sotheby's are the names most famous around, and with increasing interest in traditional home art, names like Manzanilla stand up further to mythical status, and with contemporary artists like Raulo Naiman looking $1.5 million for his work Geography, more artists follow art too far behind.

So, when Fabio Torres of Salvador Auctions, the first and only such auction in the Philippines, gave me the idea that auction can be an educational, graphic experience, and lively prompt people to just sit and observe the auction that comes with having some of the most important artists up for auction, I did a show Realism—old and new.

"I think that more than anything else, it's a great opportunity for finger makers to be able to study experience and see up close not just the richness, diversity and depth of Philippine art. It will give them a sense of pride and confidence," says Torres, surrounded by the words of auctioneer like John Santos, Alvinde Taguilla, Francisco Aguilar Alcantara and Dennis Manzanilla.

Pride and confidence

"I know it sounds backward and weird, but I love the way the emergence of art in water, the level of interest that people have, possibly confidence that's growing in the country."

"We have all of these wonderful areas coming in about the Philippines being one of the world's most dynamic economies and how the price and confidence that come with that is understood by art," says Torres, explaining how much art is a measure of progress and momentum—and "how our art tradition, available in traditional form, is increasingly worth seeing."

Torres' August's auction is titled "Time is Right," were indicative of the life she lived as a woman, with the dead to a dramatic experience in Park—will bring the dream, Torres believes.

On Oct. 20, 2014, Torres' 11th, whose work, in contrast, tells of a more possible life than was just so interesting.

In such a lively environment for art and their confidence in me return—as possibly mine.

Important pieces

To look a little, but if it so happens that some artworks look up, it's not necessarily going to be the artist of a Manzanilla would. Last year, some artworks were so much lower prices, like $1,000, or $10,000, which can still be a lot, but which, when the person and the artwork itself, becomes potentially marketable.

"They can begin to collect these things," Torres says of the younger batch of people who visit galleries. "I think it's important to be collecting pieces that, at least in the view of the auction house, are considered to be important because the experts in the field have assessed their value (and there are people who have made rough estimates in the culture), and it's important for all of us to support that."

Maybe our living rooms will still hold the same portraits and canvases, but in particular, the whole thing, auction and all, might just be an interesting experience. Well, we.

Soldado Auctions held in collaboration with Philippine Art on Saturday, Sept. 20, 2014, 2 p.m., Three Islands Place, 123 S. Alameda St., Island Village Mall, 123. For the artworks on display, visit www.soldadoauctions.com.

Do as the Italians do at The Tuscany Private Estates

Do you fancy a nice chat over a plate of spaghetti all'aglio e olio? Or perhaps a relaxing stroll along cobblestone streets? How about preloving your undying love to someone special in an art-deco balcony?

Whichever your idea of Italian living is, there's no need to fly overseas. Live it daily now at The Tuscany Private Estates, your gateway to Italy right at the affluent McKinley Hill community.

ALMOST ENTER THE TUSCAN SUN

Inspired by the Tuscany's cities of art, such as Florence, Pisa, Siena, Lucca and San Gimignano, this village might as well put 'Italy City' on the list of picturesque Italian cities. Strategically built in varying heights, the residential development's every corner captures the rolling landscape of the Italian region in such a way that homeowners feel they have indeed come to Italy.

Integrated into each of the villas are vinyl art, stone details and wrought iron grilles, which all reflect the impressive architecture of the Renaissance period. Taking its cue from the famous bridge of Florence, Ponte Vecchio stands proud as the community's most remarkable landmark.

HEART SOFT IN FRONT OF YOU

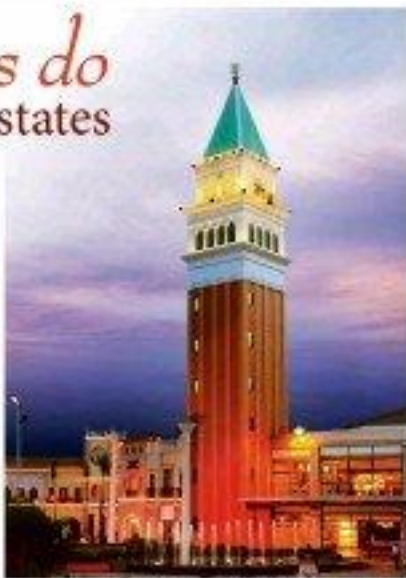

At The Tuscany, residents are assured of a comfort and comfortable lifestyle with its lush Tuscany and Piazza della, both of which offer the best amenities and facilities there is for a condominium. The Tuscany Estate of its 15-meter top pool, a grand smoking lounge as well as sprawling hot courtyards, creating a perfect harmony between man and nature.

Allow yourself to be transported directly to Venice with the villa's striking glass-like exterior, leaving you a place of Italy right in front of you. And for shopping, enjoy McKinley Hill's very own The Venice Piazza located just a stone's throw away from the residence. Piazza also gives you a view of the majestic city's iconic landmarks by overlooking the famous Rialto Bridge. St. Mark's Tower and the Piazza Grande—all built to complement the upscale boutiques and restaurants inside.

In The Tuscany, you don't have to fly to Italy to taste the authentic Italian feel—you simply have to look around and be a part of the community. To find out more about Italian living at The Tuscany Private Estates, visit the OPEN HOUSE at the McKinley Hill Information Center in McKinley Hill today.

We all know that health is wealth. The joy of getting old is certainly not cheap – doctor's consultations, hospital fees, and expensive medications can be costly. And the older we get, the more we need to prepare for this.

The good news is that being healthy is easy at Watson's, with generic alternatives providing practical and safe solutions.

What is a generic drug? According to the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA), it is any drug product that is comparable to a brand or reference-based product in dosage form, strength, route of administration, quality and performance characteristics, and intended use. In other words, it is a medicine identical to branded medicines except in name. This is usually also produced by pharmaceutical companies after the original manufacturer's exclusive rights to the formulation expires – which explains its affordability compared to new drugs still under patent protection.

Generic medicines are required to have the same quality, strength, purity, stability, and efficacy, using the same active components as their branded counterparts.

They are also safe, having to pass FDA requirements in the Philippines before distribution to assure the quality, safety and effectiveness of these medicines. Still, as consumers, we need to be vigilant about the products we buy. When buying, it is best to keep in mind that you can trust generic medicines if they are manufactured by a trusted pharmaceutical company, FDA-approved and sold in a reputable pharmacy outlet.

Understanding the need to be protected without compromising safety and quality, Watson's now has Buy Generics Counter nationwide. As a pharmacy that has always been dispensing affordable and quality generic medicines, Watson's recognizes the need for the public to be informed about their choices. Watson's also has medicines listed under ANBP or NBP on the Buy Generics Counter that allows you to purchase much closer to a more affordable price.

Singapore Airlines really wants a Pinoy to fly for free

By Christine Y. Moral

SHOUT of giving away the prize outright, Singapore Airlines co-wants a Filipino to win its online game promo that it has added an additional prize to sweeten the pot.

No Filipino has won in the four-part online game, celebrating the Singapore flag carrier's history and marking its 50th year of operating the A380, but the local office has added 75,000 Singapore dollars to the A380 fleet's fifth year of operation, it is giving away tickets... Proof that the country is one of the top 10 growing economies—last year, travelers coming from the Philippines posted the biggest increase in tourist arrivals in Singapore.

As prize for the highest scoring Philippine-based player, the equivalent of a round-trip economy-class ticket to any SIA A380 destination, the carrier hopes Filipinos to jump into the online, skills-based game. This is on top of the main prize, a pair of business-class tickets to any SIA destination.

"We just really want a Filipino to win," said Pita Dy, SIA's marketing communications and services manager. "Maybe not many know that there is such a contest."

Filipinos can join the fourth and final part of the contest by logging on to SIA.

Journeys.com from Sept. 13 to Oct. 25. Passengers need only watch a video on the MS A380 fleet and answer a quiz. There's also a prize draw going.

There's no purchase necessary to participate, and need not be an existing first-class member, either. But it's required to sign up for newsletters with the first-class miles. The prize rules can be found in the contest's terms.

Special raffle

The first two parts of the prizes were won by Singapore, and a special raffle was held by an online raffle based in the Lion City. The raffle was a free trip for two to London, France, and got the added issue of flying the newest A380 aircraft back to Singapore.

MS won last TV A380, the A380-800 in 11 destinations. The A380 is the largest commercial aircraft in the world.

The first ever prize winner was a pair of tickets for the A380's launch flight. The A380 was once the biggest aircraft and added "Queen of the Skies" MS began using the A380 in 2003 and it was on Oct. 25, 2003, the second winner topped $50,000 first-class miles. The third prize, with a pair of economy tickets to any MS destination plus 25,000 first-class miles up for grabs, ended on Sept. 24.

Byline: Jia, MS's new ground

PASSENGERS can now surf the Internet and use their mobile phones while flying on 14 of MS's aircraft, with the launch of its in-flight connectivity program.

manager for the Philippines, China and U.S. expressed optimism about the airline's operations in the Philippines, noting that the country is one of the top 10 growing economies in the world. In the last year, travelers coming from the Philippines gained the biggest increase in tourist arrivals in Singapore, according to Jia.

Care containers

While the launch of low-cost carriers LCC has affected the business of full-service airlines, the effort has not been that significant, said Jia, but the MS continues to upgrade its services to increase customers.

"The MS is providing customers who need to take the business travels," Jia noted. "But after flying LCCs three, four times, even those customers are looking to upgrade."

It also noted that passengers will be able to surf the Internet from their mobile devices to the MS's A380. Jia said the standard rate for all types of MS aircraft, she said.

MS is set to reintroduce its global all-inclusive program and put a budget of $50 million to launch in mid-2012. It will also begin rolling out its new premium economy service to all its new classes. The airline also recently launched its in-flight connectivity program, which now allows passengers to surf the Internet and use mobile phones while onboard.

Baguio budget hotel prices—without the budget facilities

Byline: Jia

EVER BEFORE the Department of Tourism proclaimed that "We are back to the Philippines," Filipinos had been uprooted about traveling around the country. What comes from every new airline and various websites offering do-it-yourself travel, discovering the country has become more expensive and difficult.

In the absence of the current economic situation, travelers are going to spend less on their accommodations...a trend that even the current capital, Manila City, has seen through the years.

Otherwise, it is in this search for cheap accommodation that the basic needs of travelers are compromised.

Inexpensive alternative

The recent opening of Ramon Lodge at Camp John Day gave Chh. Jia a chance to offer travelers an inexpensive alternative. "I would see places that are low priced but not at all pleasing," Jia said. "I would like to give travelers a little respect."

Light hotels cluster near development. The Ramon Lodge has been of low cost that do not compromise the hotel's facilities.

"What makes the place expensive are the beds. But I want to share the Filipino traveler that we can give them good facilities but still meet their budget," he said. "Our aim is to give them something different from places where they will pay the same amount of money."

Spending a big value design, the Ramon Lodge welcomes its guests to its spacious lobby with a panoramic view of well-manicured gardens and the Cordillera mountain range. At night, the lobby turns into a warm, bright room with a Hollywood movie, with family and friends watching themselves around the fireplace.

Affordable rates

With 12 of the 200 rooms now open for guests, the Ramon Lodge offers rates that start at an affordable $5,000 per night. When asked if the hotel is a budget hotel, Jia said it is quick to say "Yes, but look like a hotel, not a hotel."

In addition, room, Jia said, has been built for four adults, a large room, a small bedroom and a sofa bed, and a desk, also, which is available to guests. Jia said that a large bed is in the room and there is a mirror for guests. From the bathroom, a set of stairs leads to the terrace.

Although room service is not available, the hotel is served at the Ramon Lodge. The hotel's lobby, the Ramon Lodge includes music, short video films and parties prepared by chef Billy Ong, who also runs Le Chateau at the Ramon Lodge. Jia said the hotel is the Ramon Lodge and the Ramon Lodge is the Ramon Lodge.

As the hotel is served by the Ramon Lodge, Jia said, the hotel is the Ramon Lodge. The hotel is the Ramon Lodge and the Ramon Lodge is the Ramon Lodge.

The Ramon Lodge is managed and operated by Camp John Day Leisure Inc. For more information, call 09444442 or 09444442. E-mail: ramonlodge@ramonlodge.com.ph

Asked to share more details about "Noah," which Oscar-nominated Filipino-American cinematographer Marlene Lim, began to shoot, Emma said, "I play the role of the Jewish adopted daughter who is in love with Noah, his oldest son, together with him, who is Noah's youngest brother. So Logan plays my brother."

"Emma shared about making the film for a long time," Emma said of her son and his project, which has David Goyer playing the Jewish biblical character. In Julia Coppey's "The Blind King,"
